Introduction

About the team:

We are a team of five members under the leadership of Mr. Pragun Bhattarai, working together to create an e-commerce website which is specifically built for selling watches using various resources online and offline under the guidance of our esteemed teachers at Islington College. This project has been done for the partial fulfilment (60% of the total weightage) of our 1st semester coursework of the “Introduction to Information Systems” module.

About the project:

Our project focuses on building an user-friendly and easy to navigate website, providing our customers with a platform where they can easily buy high quality watches whilst also providing a clear description of each of the watches. This includes useful details about various watch models, maintenance tips and also the best discounted price that can be given to our customers.

Our website consists of a home page, a product page, a blog page, a research page, a contact us page and an about us page. The home page gives a short snippet of the summary of all the other pages. The product page showcases all the best quality products that our website provides along with their detailed description and the best prices in the market. The blog page contains several articles about the impacts of watches on technology and many more. The research page outlines various references taken from other e-commerce websites in order to develop our websites and the similarities and differences with those e-commerce websites. The contact us page contains a request/feedback form which can be filled by our customers in order to submit to us about their complaints or satisfaction with our website. The about us page gives insight about the goals of our project and also introduces our cool team members.

Goals/Objectives:

- To develop a proper e-commerce website for watches.
- To make the website user-friendly and easy to navigate.
- To learn about the various steps involved in developing a website.
- To tackle the problems that arise while creating a website.
- To make the source code well organised and structured.

Use of HTML, CSS and JavaScript in website development:Use of HTML:

HTML which stands for HyperText Markup Language is the foundational language to create web pages . HTML was used to create different types of content that appeared on our website/web pages. This was achieved by utilizing different elements known as ‘tags’ along with their attributes which defined each section of the page and gave instructions on how the webpage was presented (Coursera Staff, 2024).

Use of CSS:

CSS stands for Cascading Style Sheet is a simple mechanism used for adding styles to the html webpage (Eg: fonts, colours, spacing) (w3 org, 2025) . CSS was used to make our website look more visually easy and to design various aspects like layout, fonts, colours etc.

Use of JavaScript:

JavaScript is a cross-platform, object-oriented scripting language used to make webpages interactive (e.g., having complex animations, clickable buttons, popup menus, etc.) (MDN contributors, 2024) .

JavaScript was used for the functional part of the website in order to make the website more dynamic by adding features like form validation, image sliding, popup messages and so on.

Verdict

Whilst building an e-commerce website for watches, various web technologies such as HTML, CSS, JavaScript were used simultaneously to form the design and basis of the website. With the main goal of creating an user friendly and easy to navigate website, our website consisted of various web pages helping us meet that goal. The web technologies were utilised to their fullest with the best of our knowledge to make the website structured, visually appealing and interactive.

Discussion and Analysis

Text Editor

For the completion of this project, we chose Visual Studio Code (VS code) as our text editor as it is easy to use whilst also providing powerful coding tools.

Visual Studio Code is a lightweight yet robust source code editor which runs on desktop and is compatible with most desktop operating systems: Windows, macOS and Linux (Microsoft team, 2024). One of the major reasons why we chose VS code was because it comes with a built in support function for most languages and also provides various extensions which make it easier to code and detect errors.

Wireframe Development:

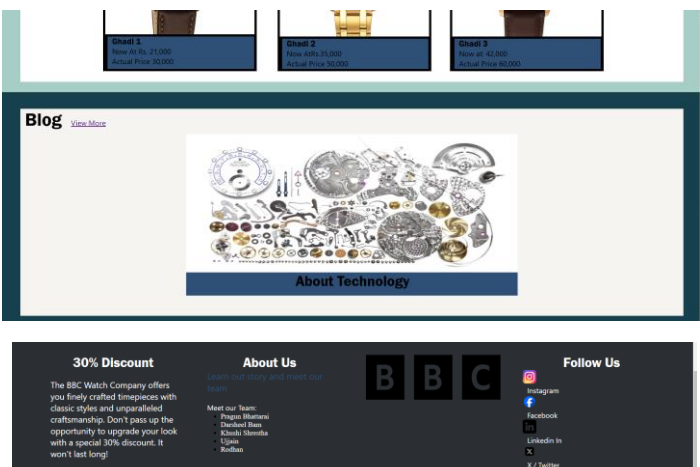

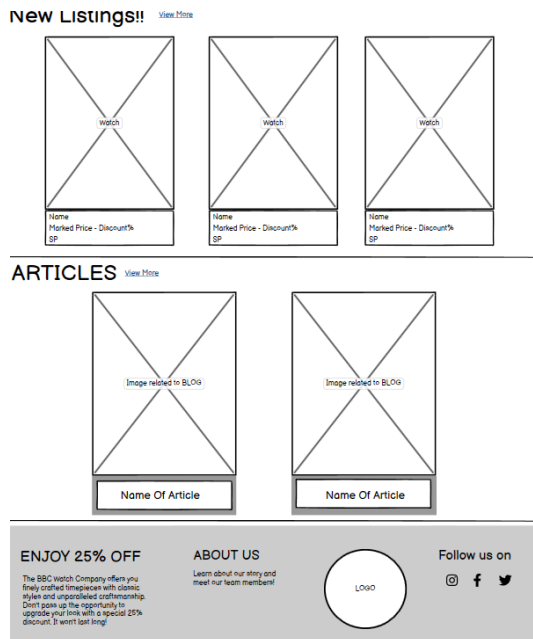

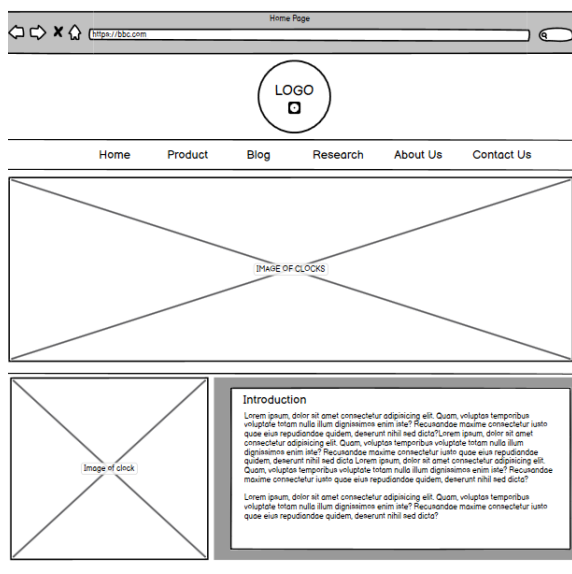

We chose Balsamiq for developing the wireframe of our project.

A wireframe is a rough diagram created during the early stages of building a website to help visualise the structure of the digital product design (Balsamiq Wireframing Academy team, 2024) (Balsamiq Wireframing Academy team, 2024) . Balsamiq is a rapid wireframing tool which creates mockups and wireframes for websites, web apps, and desktop software. Balsamiq allowed us to picture the rough ideas and concepts of our web pages with a simple drag and drop interface. The fact that most of the tools used while creating Balsamiq had a hand-drawn style helped us focus more on the structure and content of the product rather than the visual details.

Contents of the website:

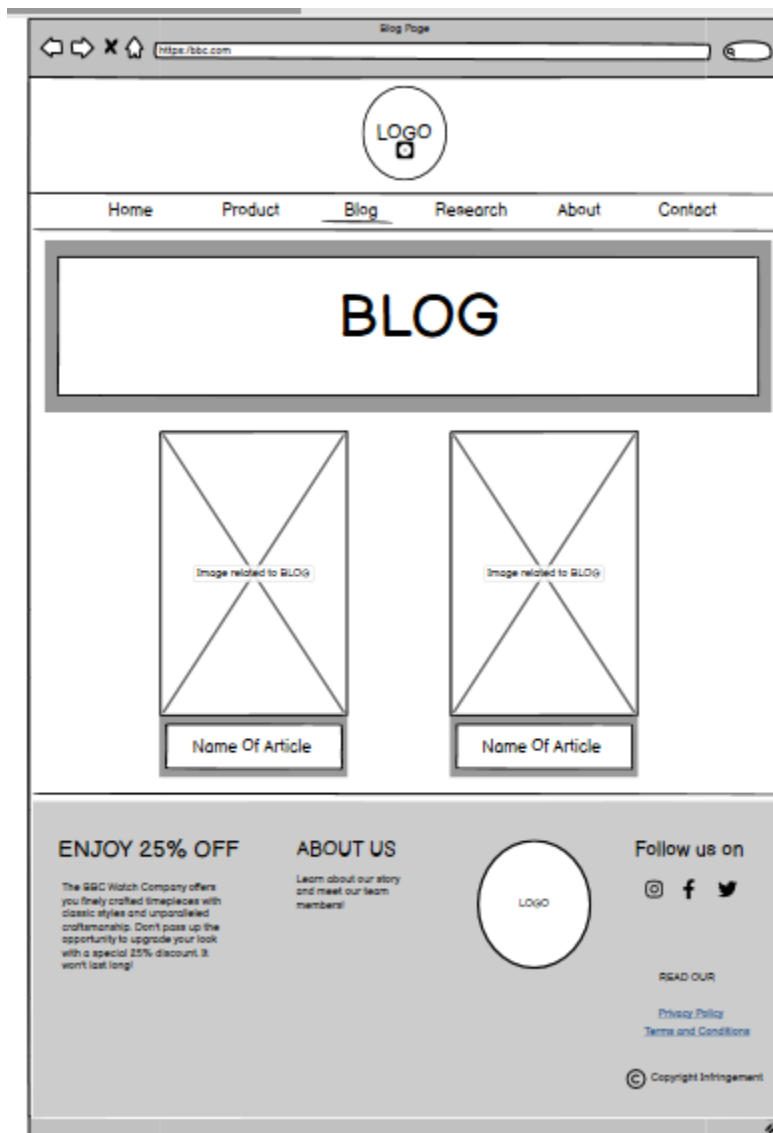

Home Page:

The homepage of our website serves as the main entry point to the website providing customers with the idea of our business insight i.e. what our website offers to them. It provides a short snippet to the contents of each web page that is present within the website. The Navigation bar consists of our attractive brand logo along with a menu bar with the link to different web pages present within the website which allows customers to navigate through the website quickly and easily. The footer of the home page also consists of various links (external mostly) which redirect to our social media sites or customer support page.

Blog page:

The blog page is a page consisting of various well researched articles about the impact (both positive and negative) of watches on technology today and how it has affected the modern society. This page explores the effects of watches on peoples daily lives and how it has brought changes compared to the past. The contents of this page can be served very helpful in allowing our customers to learn about how watches have reformed than the past times and how it can affect their daily lives, which is also the main goal of why we created this page.

Conclusion

As this project is under the final stages of completion, we were able to successfully develop an e-commerce website for watches. We went through several phases throughout the completion of this project and also faced several challenges throughout the process. We gained a better understanding of how to use HTML, CSS and JavaScript to develop a user-friendly website. While there is still room for improvements such as providing many high quality pictures of the same product, the resultant website is one that meets the requirements set by our teachers.

We were successful in designing and implementing multiple web pages into a single website. We used HTML to provide structure to the content of the website, CSS to give styling to the content and JavaScript to make the website dynamic and interactive. But we also faced a major challenge while balancing the visual appeal of the website and the responsiveness of it. Making the website user-friendly especially when maintaining consistent functionality across all the pages was without doubt, a rough path to cross. Thus, we also learned several things while facing these challenges. We learned the importance of wireframes and how they help to make the development process easy to visualise and make the overall process easier. We learned the impact of easy navigation, interesting user interface and visual elements such as layouts and colour on user experience which greatly affects their trust and their possibility of purchasing products using our website.

To sum it all up, developing an e-commerce website for watches along with the team members under our teachers guidance was definitely a rough path but an important phase required in our learning phase. Building this website helped us gain a hands-on experience on designing the front end of a website using various web technologies like HTML, CSS and JavaScript. This helped us convert the theoretical knowledge that we learned in our classes to actual practical experience which prepares us for more real world projects in the future.

Audemars Piguet(Bottom picture)we found very appealing due to its simple design and its attractive nature. The web page consisted simplicity over decoration which made our works easier, even though Audemars Piguet web page consisted of less design and decoration it still attracts people's eyes due to vast number of pictures and videos used.

All though the web page reference taken looks simple we modified it making interactive changes and user friendly.
